

PENNSYLVANIA POLITICAL LEADERSHIP PROGRAMS

Springboard Training • Political Leaders Fellowship

Are you looking to take a leadership role in Pennsylvania politics?

Develop the tools and connections you need to succeed in political organizing, community activism, issue advocacy, or running for elected office through the

Pennsylvania Political Leaders Fellowship

Join a select group of bright, ambitious, emerging progressive leaders from throughout Pennsylvania for a comprehensive, part-time training and mentoring program designed to accelerate your political career.

Through monthly training workshops, personal coaching from seasoned professionals, and networking within the political community, you will learn how to:

- Identify and communicate your political values
- Tap into "grassroots" and "grasstops" political funding sources
- Work with reporters and exploit earned media opportunities
- Build coalitions with other political leaders and organizations
- Lead from your values while remaining connected to your community

The 9-month Fellowship begins in October, 2005 and ends in July, 2006. Applications are due by August 12.

Comments from CPL Training Participants

- "The [Political Leaders Springboard Training] taught me the basics and provided me with useful skills I can use in the future. The connections I have made are better than I hoped for; these connections will greatly help me with my goals."
- Mark L., Woxall, PA
- "[The trainers] were all excellent - very personable and informative"
- Tanisha J., Pittsburgh
- "[I liked the] opportunity to break into groups, practice, and receive constructive feedback. The training exercises were both timely and workable."
- Derek G., Philadelphia
- "I have to give the program credit for having a diverse group of trainers from different backgrounds...This is crucial because it motivates people of color and minorities."
